

Watershed Planning Is Approved

The Soil Conservation Service has approved the planning of a detailed watershed protection and flood prevention program in the North Fork of Ozan Creek watershed, according to Wm. B. Davey, SCS State Conservationist, Little Rock.

The watershed is located in Hempstead, 6888 acres in Pike and 3200 acres in Howard.

Davey stated that preparation of the plan by a special team of specialists including engineers, hydrologists, economists, geologists, and soil scientists would start about September 15, 1963.

The North Fork of Ozan Creek watershed project is sponsored by the Hempstead, Mine Creek and Little Missouri Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The completed plan will be reviewed and approved by these sponsors. The planning specialists will assemble information on the possibilities of multiple-proposed reservoirs for municipal water supply and recreation in the watershed.

The completed plan will also have to be reviewed and approved by a Congressional Committee before construction of structures can start.

For many years the landowners within the watershed have been plagued by floods that have caused crop failures and sediment damage to their land. During recent years there has been considerable damage from floods to roads, fences and buildings. The landowners have requested the watershed program to help stabilize the income and improve the social conditions in the area.

When the plan has been approved, the various agencies of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will team up with the landowners to install conservation treatment on the farms within the watershed. It is a requirement that erosion control practices be installed on the land before the structures are built.

Defect Halts Missile Work

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The completion of the Titan II missile complex near Little Rock has been temporarily halted as a result of a defect discovered in the second stages of some of the missiles.

The defect has also affected missile complexes near Wichita, Kan., and Tucson, Ariz. A spokesman for the Martin Co., said the defect was in fuel leakage through loss of vapor at joints and connections.

The spokesman would not say how many missiles were affected but said correction of the defect required shipping all the weapons' 32-foot second stages back to Martin's Denver plant.

Brig. Gen. Samuel Phillips said the target date for turning over the missile installations at the end of the year would not be met. Phillips is vice commander of the ballistics missile systems Division of the Air Force Systems Command.

100 in State to March on Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Upwards of 100 persons left Arkansas by bus, train and plane Monday and today for Washington to take part in the civil rights march Wednesday.

The marchers were from Little Rock, North Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Star City, West Memphis and Hot Springs.

Buses left Pine Bluff and Little Rock Monday. L. C. Bates, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would leave Little Rock today by plane.

He said several left Hot Springs by plane Monday and that several others left Little Rock by train. He said he did not have the exact number.

The bulk of the Arkansas demonstrators went on the two buses. Twenty-three persons, including three white persons, left Little Rock Monday night. Thirty-one Negroes from Pine Bluff and 40 from Star City left Pine Bluff earlier Monday. The Little Rock bus stopped in West Memphis early today and picked up seven more persons.

Dr. Jerry D. Jewell, president of the Little Rock Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said another white person would join the group at West Memphis.

But B. J. Yarbrough, a West Memphis Negro leader, said only seven Negroes boarded the bus. The white persons leaving Little Rock included the Rev. Walter B. Clancy, a teacher of sociology and canon law at St. John's Seminary, a Catholic School at Little Rock; Mrs. Yvonne Pitts of North Little Rock, and a second woman who asked not to be identified. Among the Negro travelers were Elizabeth Eckford, one of the nine students who desegregated Little Rock Central High School in 1957, and the Rev. Rufus King Young, 1962 president of the Greater Little Rock Ministerial Association, an integrated organization.

The bus was expected to arrive in Washington about 6 a. m. Wednesday. The travelers will sleep on the bus, which is air conditioned and has a restroom.

Father Clancy said he represented the Catholic Interracial Council and the Arkansas Council on

Former Officer Advises U.S. Against Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retired Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, former chief of naval operations, recommended today the Senate reject the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

I believe it may be ratified but if it is we will regret it," the former top naval officer said after three hours of closed-door testimony before the Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

He told newsmen outside that the Senate reject the treaty although this had not been included in a 54-page statement made available earlier. Sen. Henry M. Jackson D-Wash., who presided, said Adm. Burke came out flat-footedly against the treaty.

Adm. Burke confirmed this a moment later. In his prepared testimony, Burke urged senators to demand some system of verification or limited inspection of Soviet nuclear facilities before ratifying the treaty, to prevent cheating by the Russians.

Trial Set for 6 Charged in Auto Theft

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Six men charged with conspiring in transporting and disposing of stolen cars in an auto theft ring go on trial in U.S. District Court Wednesday.

A separate trial has been granted to Sam Anderson, a Hot Springs attorney who is charged in only one count in the 59-count U.S. Grand Jury indictment with receiving a stolen car.

Date for his case has not been set by the court. Two other men arrested when the ring was broken up last February pleaded guilty in Cleveland, Ohio, in June and were sentenced to four years in prison. They are Foster Imhoff and Darius Wood, both of Akron, Ohio.

On trial Wednesday will be Winfred Lee Angel, 41, Roy Edward Paulson, 38, Forrest Delphin Cason, 54 and D. L. Mooney, 51, all of Hot Springs; William Palmer, 36, of Talmadge, Ohio, and Joseph Francis Newman, 59, of Akron.

Federal Bureau of Investigation Agents said the car theft ring operated for two years between Akron and Hot Springs. A majority of the cars were sold to used car dealers, FBI agents said, and a tip from a suspicious used car salesman touched off the investigation.

U.S. District Judge John E. Millett will hear the case. It was scheduled for last week but postponed when the income tax evasion trial of state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst ran longer than expected. Hurst was acquitted.

Man Wanted in State Captured

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A 51-year-old man was apprehended by FBI agents Monday as a fugitive from Fort Smith, Ark.

H. G. Maynor, special agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, identified the man as John N. Overmyer, who had been sought since March on a complaint filed by the FBI in Fort Smith.

Overmyer was charged with fleeing from Arkansas to avoid prosecution for writing bad checks.

The FBI report said the federal charge grew out of a local complaint of check passing in Fort Smith.

Overmyer had traveled extensively and had recently been employed in New Orleans as a cook.

Negroes Vow Calm March on Washington

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders continued to pledge calm and dignity for their massive civil rights march on Washington Wednesday. But apprehension still hung in the air—about transportation, about the uncertainty of numbers, about an unexpected spark of violence.

The railroad unions have set a nationwide strike for midnight Wednesday night if new work rules go into effect then. It is a strike that could leave thousands of weary demonstrators stranded and milling in Washington.

Congress was set today to continue its try at legislation that would prevent the strike. The uncertainty about numbers was accentuated early today when a spokesman for the march headquarters, Sy Posner, reported that about 2,000 of the persons around the country who had planned to join in the demonstration were having financial difficulties and would not be able to come to the capital.

Posner said the Southern Christian Leadership Conference led by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. had sent about $2,000 to its headquarters in Atlanta to help cover the transportation costs of 200 marchers from Albany, Ga., and 100 from Savannah, Ga.

Police, meanwhile, prepared to cope with the massive crowds but they still were not sure just how many people trains, planes, buses and cars would stream into the city for the march.

But police were sure the crowds would be big. Estimates range from 100,000 to 250,000. With crowds of this size come the potential for trouble.

A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Sleeping Car Porters and the director of the march told the National Press Club Monday, "We have taken the utmost precaution to see that violence will not occur."

But, he added, "I will not stand here and tell you I know there will be no violence. Human beings are fallible."

Some special trains and buses begin rolling toward the capital today, carrying demonstrators from afar. A special freedom train for example, is scheduled to start on its way no later than 6 p.m. and head through Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, picking up passengers in the South.

The train is expected in Washington before 10 a.m. Wednesday. Most special trains and buses, however, will not start on their way until early Wednesday.

Klan Wizard Is Hurt in Crash

WALLHALLA, S.C. (AP)—Robert M. Shelton, imperial grand wizard and grand dragon of the Alabama Ku Klux Klan, was injured, the pilot killed and a companion hurt here Monday in the crash of their private plane.

They were on their way to Washington where a civil rights march is set for Wednesday. The pilot, Alvin D. Sisk, died today of injuries he suffered in the crash.

Shelton, Sisk and Frederick G. Smith were taken to Oconee County Memorial Hospital in Seneca following the plane's crash in a wooded area.

Shelton said he was not seriously hurt and Sisk escaped with cuts and bruises.

Rules Delay Asked to Avoid Railway Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders called today for the railroads to delay imposition of new work rules which threatened to touch off a strike Thursday, but the chief negotiator for the carriers said he knew of no reason to do so.

The request for delay, while Congress considers strike-barring legislation, came in Senate speeches by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Mansfield said he was sure that Congress would pass a bill promptly.

Within the hour, J.E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads in the long dispute with unions over work rules, issued a statement in which he took the position that these Senate speeches did not amount to a formal request for delay.

Then he added: "I know of no reason why the railroads should comply with such a request even if one is made."

The railroads have posted new work rules to be effective at 12:01 a.m. Thursday. The unions have given notice that they will strike at that hour if the rules are put into effect.

While Mansfield spoke of prompt Senate action, he also told reporters that he did not think the Senate could pass a bill today.

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate appeared today to be spinning its wheels on legislation to avert a nationwide railroad strike Thursday and leaders doubted the emergency measure could be passed in time.

Although there was speculation the railroads would withhold strike-triggering new work rules if Congress appeared to be on the verge of passing legislation, a railroad spokesman said no.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers, said on Monday they definitely would not grant an extension of their deadline, 12:01 a.m. Thursday.

During the long Senate debate Monday, there were mutterings for less talk and more action. "When are we going to start voting?" demanded Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H. "We can't settle this thing on hot air."

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, floor manager for a bill approved by the Senate Commerce Committee which he heads, said he thought there could be general agreement.

Pecan Crop Forecast

Arkansas and the nation will have one of the largest crops in history this year. A crop of nine million pounds is forecast for Arkansas and 279 million pounds in the nation. This is four times as much as the pecan crop last year in the nation and about three times larger than the 1962 Arkansas crop.

Soybean

Some concern has developed over failure of soybeans to set pods. Several factors such as temperature, nutrition, light intensity and quality, may cause plants not to set pods. Plants of most varieties of soybeans are incapable of flowering unless they receive 10 or more hours of darkness daily. During the flowering period, soybean plants generally produce three to four times the number of flowers that finally develop into pods. It is generally agreed that pods do not set well when the air temperature is about 95 or above degrees. This is usually the case where soil moisture is deficient. Good set may be obtained on most southern varieties where soil moisture is adequate even at high temperatures.

Soil Samples

Soil samples are being brought to the Extension office in large numbers. Farmers are required to take samples and get recommendations for fertilizer before approval of ACP practices can be made. If you plan to carry out some of these practices this fall get your soil sample to us as soon as possible. We have soil sampling tubes to loan if you need one for taking the sample.

2 Miners Safe, Drilling Starts for Third One

By STANFORD H. BENJAMIN

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—A new 12-inch hole trying to locate the still trapped Louis Bova, 42, more than 300 feet underground was started today and rescue supervisors said if there is any sign of life they will start digging further in the area immediately.

The new hole is six feet east of the 18-inch shaft through which David Fellin, 58, and Henry Thorne, 28, were lifted to the surface early today after nearly two weeks underground.

H.B. Charnbury, state mines secretary who is directing operation, said Fellin and Thorne think there is a possibility Bova may be still alive, apparently existing on acid mine water.

Originally, the giant drilling rig was equipped with a 17 1/2 inch bit but Charnbury said that trouble was experienced and the 12-inch rig was substituted. Before the change was made the larger drill had gone down nearly 70 feet.

Charnbury said the drilling is proceeding at the fastest rate possible and total time should be no more than 15 hours.

Gordon H. Smith deputy mines secretary, indicated that from the information Fellin had given the rescue team, including a map he had drawn of the underground terrain, "We think we may have a good chance to rescue Bova."

Meanwhile, a four-inch lifeline hole was also started toward where Bova is believed trapped. Four previous attempts at establishing a lifeline hole, similar to the one through which contact was first made with Fellin and Thorne on Aug. 18 and through which food was lowered to them, have failed.

All three miners were trapped in a cave-in Aug. 13, but Bova was separated from Thorne and Fellin by a wall of debris and was believed about 25 feet away from them, reportedly injured. He has not been heard from since last Tuesday when Fellin reported he made contact with him.

Fellin, 58, and Thorne, 28, while being examined by doctors, said they could not believe that Bova was dead. They said he probably still lay trapped under a pile of rubble and that the search should continue.

Fellin suggested that a hole should be drilled about six feet east of the lifeline hole through which contact was first made with them. The drilling began promptly.

Bova's wife was not at the rescue site when Fellin and Thorne were pulled to the surface. A relative said she had been under great strain and had been taken to a hospital Monday night.

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Joking and singing all the way, Henry Thorne and David Fellin today were lifted to the surface today unharmed in a safety harness from more than 300 feet underground where a mine cave-in trapped them 14 days ago.

The rescue climaxed a drama that caught world-wide attention; a drama mixed with faith, courage, frustrations and the heart-warming stream of good humor that flowed constantly from Thorne and Fellin.

But the joy was tempered with concern for the third trapped miner, Louis Bova, 42, who was last heard from a week ago today. He was separated from them by 25 feet of debris, and four efforts to drill a small lifeline hole fort to comply with the five-star general's proposal without having to renegotiate the Moscow-signed treaty.

Eisenhower wants the United States to reserve the right to use nuclear weapons to halt any aggression involving its vital interests.

He endorsed the treaty Monday in a letter to Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But the former president said he had one reservation in mind.

"The reservation that I suggest would provide that in the event of any armed aggression endangering a vital interest of the United States this nation would be the sole judge of the kind and type of weaponry and equipment it would employ as well as the time of their use," Eisenhower wrote.

Some witnesses have expressed the fear that the treaty would bar the United States from furnishing nuclear weapons to an ally under attack.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters that this proposal—one of the reservations previously suggested by Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission—already is "inherent in the treaty."

Mansfield said that if it were adopted as a formal resolution "it could well kill the treaty because it would be subject to renegotiation."

The Senate sponsors did not think that a 100 per cent endorsement of the treaty by former President Harry S. Truman—announced Monday by Fulbright—would offset the jolt the general had given them.

Fulbright suggested that Eisenhower's use of the term "reservation" might not be precise.

"It is a basic right of every nation to provide for its self defense," Fulbright said. "That right is guaranteed in the United Nations charter and it should not be necessary to reiterate it constantly."

to him—like the one which reached Throne and Fellin—have been unsuccessful.

Throne started up at 1:50 a.m. and reached the surface at 2:07 a.m., a 17-minute trip he described as "the best ride I ever had." Fellin started at 2:33 a.m. and reached the surface at 2:41 a.m. His rescue took 8 minutes and 15 seconds.

Although grimy both men appeared in good shape when they reached the surface.

H. B. Charnbury, Pennsylvania secretary of mines, said work on an escape hole for Bova similar to the 18-inch shaft used to free Fellin and Throne will be started shortly, along with a new three-inch drilling.

The men were examined in a first aid tent, then quickly removed by two helicopters to the Hazleton State Hospital nine miles away, where a special ward was prepared for them.

The wives of both men were waiting for them at the hospital. Mrs. Fellin, a Roman Catholic, made the sign of the cross, prayed and wept tears of joy when she received the news that the rescue had been accomplished.

At the hospital the men were first helped into tubs to wash off the accumulation of grime. Then they had a shave before being reunited with their families. Shortly before 4 a.m. Fellin wondered when he could see his wife.

He had another request, too: for a sandwich, soup and coffee.

At 4:08 a.m., just five hours short of two weeks after her husband had disappeared in the mine, Mrs. Fellin was reunited with him. She had been kept waiting almost an hour in the hospital after his arrival.

Advertising Integration Moves Slowly

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Racial integration of advertisements is moving ahead slowly but steadily. More and more Negro models are appearing alongside white models.

Recently Macy's, the big New York department store chain pictured five hand-holding youngsters in an ad for children's apparel. One was a Negro and another an Oriental.

While there is strong pressure from the Negro community for greater employment of Negro models, a real impetus comes from a desire by advertisers to reach the Negro market. This market comprises almost 11 per cent of the U.S. population, or 20 million persons, with $19 billion in annual purchasing power.

Some companies have paid special attention to the Negro market for many years. Sometimes this was a part of a program aimed at many ethnic groups and neighborhoods.

Until recently efforts to reach the Negro market were mainly confined to the Negro press. Now general media are being used.

The trend toward use of Negro models is quite new and the advertising industry is having its problems.

"Many advertisers and agencies don't know how to do it," an industry spokesman said. "A problem is attracting too much attention to the models. After all, you're selling peanut butter, not integration."

"There is a definite increase in the use of Negro models in general advertising," said Richard Scheidecker, senior vice president of the American Association of Advertising Agencies. "But you have to use them where appropriate and where they will sell products."

New York Mayor Robert Wagner's committee on job advancement has made a strong push for greater employment of Negroes in newspaper, magazine, television and radio advertising.

Thinks Dad Best Actor in the World

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Peter Fonda is a tall man of 23 with a long, handsome face and intense blue eyes.

He lacks the Nebraska drawl of Henry Fonda. But when he moves you can see that he is the son of the actor whom one critic once called the most graceful man alive.

Peter believes that Henry Fonda is the world's best actor. But, like every second-generation actor, Peter must make his own way and he seems to be succeeding.

His first professional job was in a Broadway play and the critics voted him the most promising new actor of 1961. It was quite an achievement for a lad just out of the University of Omaha.

He was barely four months in acting when Warner Brothers brought him to Hollywood to test for "PT 109." A Boston accent was forced on him and he made the test under protest. He cheerfully went down in defeat to Cliff Robertson.

Peter went on to play opposite Sandra Dee in "Tammy and the Doctor," and followed with "The Victors."

He just finished "Lilith" with Warren Beatty and Jean Seberg—"I play a mental patient and in the end I fall on a kitchen knife." Next he plays a semi-heavy in "The Young Lovers" for Samuel Goldwyn Jr.

Peter was dead set against acting until 19.

"I thought that anyone who went into acting was crazy," he said. "It is a hateful life. Well, I guess that makes me crazy."

The father-son relationship is a hazard only until he can talk to producers and convince them he is an individual in his own right, said Peter.

group got $1,200 from New York to pay bus fare for its 41 demonstrators. He said the money was donated and that he did not know who gave it.

Each person will pay his own expenses, except for travel, Grinase said.

Four team captains were appointed for the Pine Bluff group. They were Odell Thorns and Lillard Neal, members of the anti-segregation Pine Bluff Movement; Bob Whitfield, chairman of the movement, and Ruthie Buffington, field representative for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

The demonstrators wore buttons labeled: March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom. They also bore a white hand and a black hand in a handshake.

on a measure tonight, although passage might be delayed beyond the deadline.

To move things, Magnuson, D-Wash., said he would be willing to accept a more limited arbitration bill approved Monday by the House Commerce Committee. The House hopes to vote on this bill Wednesday.

An amendment was offered to bring the Senate bill into line with the House measure amid indications it was picking up support. But the track was far from clear.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., announced that if the Senate leaders intended to rush the bill through "I serve notice they will not succeed."

"Morse favors a modification of President Kennedy's proposal for settling the dispute by turning it over to the Interstate Commerce Commission. That plan was rejected by the Commerce Committee."

After a caucus, assistant Senate Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey said he thought a vote would be taken today but "it all depends on Sen. Morse."

The House bill which is drawing favor would require binding arbitration of the two manpower issues in dispute—the makeup and size of train crews and the elimination of some 32,000 jobs of firemen on diesel locomotives.

It would leave other work rules, covering wages and a variety of other issues, to collective bargaining.

The Senate bill provides not only for arbitration of the manpower issues but also of the other issues if they have not been resolved within 30 days after the board's decision in the dispute over firemen and train crews.

Mehaffy Takes Oath of Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Pat Mehaffy, Little Rock attorney, took the oath of office as judge of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today.

President Kennedy named Mehaffy to the $25,500 a year lifetime job in June. Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., had recommended the attorney and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., co-sponsored him.

Participating in the public ceremony in the U.S. District Court room were McClellan, U.S. district judges J. Smith Harley and Gordon E. Young and Justice Sam Robinson of the Arkansas Supreme Court and Dr. Marshall Steel, president of Hendrix College.

The 8th Circuit Court of Appeals serves Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

Rights Leaders to Meet JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will meet with 10 civil rights leaders at 5 p.m. (EDT) Wednesday, the day of the big march on Washington, the White House said today.

Acting Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher gave this list of those who will go to the White House:

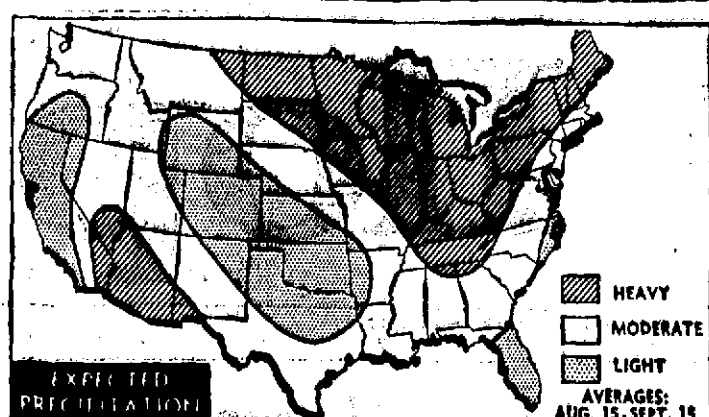

Whitney Young, National Urban League; James Farmer, CORE; Roy Wilkins, NAACP; A. Phillips Randolph, vice president of AFL-CIO and director of the march; Martin Luther King, Southern Leadership Conference; John Lewis, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee; Matthew Almond, Conference on Race and Religion; the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, National Council of Churches; Rabbi Joachim Prinz, American Jewish Congress; and Walter Reuther, UAW-AFL-CIO.

Man Disappears on Hunting Trip

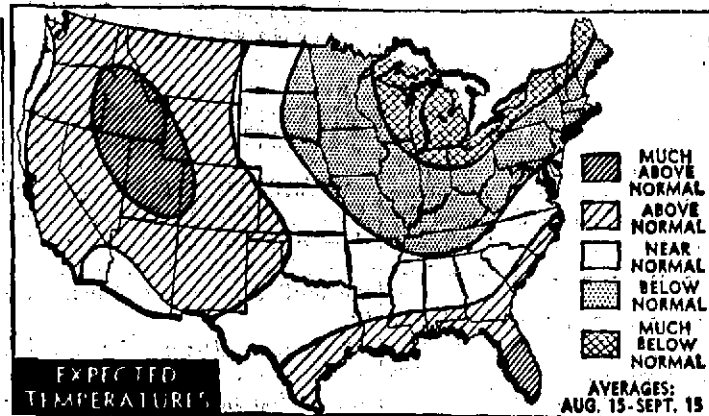

PERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP) — W. W. Charton, 62, of Little Rock, disappeared while on a hunting trip early Sunday and more than 100 volunteers searched fruitlessly for him Monday.

Charton, his wife and sister were hunting near Thornburg in Perry County Sunday morning. His wife and sister went back to their car to get something to eat. Charton has not been seen since.

Perry County Sheriff Grover Tolle said Charton was believed lost in a heavily-wooded eight-square-mile area near Lake Maumelle.

Rainfall will exceed normal in a broad band from Northern Plains to New England and south to Tennessee Valley.

Above normal temperature averages are predicted for the western third of nation, also along southeastern coasts.

Viet Soldiers Fire on All Gatherings

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge conferred for more than two hours today with Ngo Dinh Nhu, the influential younger brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem, on South Viet Nam's political-religious crisis.

They met at the request of Nhu, who heads the secret police.

Whatever the trend of the discussion, there were indications the strict army rule of Saigon was relaxing, even though the people were warned soldiers have orders to shoot into any illegal gathering.

Continued tension was reflected in postponement of a National Assembly election scheduled for Saturday. The official Viet Nam press agency announced in a broadcast dispatch Diem has ordered the election put off until further notice.

Relaxation of martial law was suggested by lifting of the Saigon curfew and according to the Viet Nam press, in some provincial towns.

Barbed wire barricades were removed from the downtown area where Saigon University's faculties of law, medicine and pharmacy are situated. Teachers were notified that schools and universities, close last weekend, may reopen soon.

Civilian censors supplanted military censors in processing news dispatches relayed abroad.

But there were increased troop concentrations in downtown Saigon.

Lodge presented his credentials to Diem Monday and conferred twice with the president. He carried a note from President Kennedy spelling out U.S. views of the Vietnamese crisis.

Lodge arrived in Saigon Thursday and replaced Frederick E. Nolting, who resigned as ambassador.

Brig. Gen. Ton That Dinh, Saigon's military governor, moved swiftly to prevent mass uprisings. He ordered security forces to shoot into any group of troublemakers who violate the state of martial law" imposed Wednesday. Government spokesmen said the military was acting under orders from Diem.

Clearing referring to the arrest of 3,000 university students as they gathered Sunday for a demonstration, Gen. Dinh asked parents to advise their children not to indulge in any illegal action which may bring about disastrous consequences.

He also banned labor strikes and appealed to the capital's 2 million people to remain calm and clear sighted.

University of Saigon faculty branches in the city were sealed off by South Vietnamese troops. Antiaircraft batteries remained around the presidential palace and at key points in Saigon, apparently to guard against any possible air force revolt.

In Washington the State Department said Vietnamese military leaders had no warning of the anti-Buddhist crackdown Wednesday that touched off the new crisis.

Police and soldiers broke into pagodas and arrested hundreds of monks and nuns in an attempt to halt Buddhist demonstrations against the government of Diem, a Roman Catholic. Buddhists, whose protests have included ritual suicides by fire, claim they have been deprived of freedom to practice their religion. Diem has denied it.

In absolving the military, Washington appeared to be placing the blame on Diem or his brother, Nhu.

The entire diplomatic staff of South Viet Nam's embassy in Washington resigned Monday to protest repressive measures against Buddhists, professors and students. Diem's ambassador to the United States said in protest last week.

Africa is the home of the tallest (Watusi, 7 feet tall or more) and the shortest (Bambuti, four feet) men on earth.

More Co-ops File Rate Protests

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two more co-operatives filed protests Monday with the Public Service Commission objecting to Arkansas Power & Light Co.'s proposed new rate schedule for selling power wholesale to co-operatives.

First Arkansas Electric Co-Operative, Inc., of Jacksonville and Petit Electric Co-operative Corp. of Clinton objected Monday.

The Woodruff and Arkansas State co-ops previously filed protests.

The proposed new higher rate would go into effect Sept. 4. AP&L filed the proposal July 31. It would apply to certain co-ops which buy power from AP&L.

First Electric said the new rate would force it to raise rates to its 13,000 member consumers. It said the rate also would jeopardize construction of the proposed Augusta steam generating plant, which the co-operatives hope to complete so it can generate its own power and cut down or stop purchases of power from AP&L.

Pair Burned in Auto Accident

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — A Conway couple suffered slight burns Monday when their car hit a truck's rear bumper, which punctured the foreign car's gasoline tank, which exploded.

The accident occurred on U.S. Highway 65 near Mayflower, between Little Rock and Conway.

Mr. and Mrs. Roby Mize were hospitalized at Conway. Mize, 22, suffered burns on both arms from the shoulder to the hand. Mrs. Mize suffered burns on her left arm and sustained bruises.

Witnesses said Mize pushed his wife of about one week out of the car and smothered the flames on her clothing. A nearby field caught fire, but little damage was done.

State Trooper Billy Skipper said the Mize car struck the truck, careened off the highway, side-swiped a tree and burned. The car was a total loss, he said.

The truck was hardly damaged, Skipper said, and the driver was uninjured.

Montana Area Damaged by Fire

GARDINER, Mont. (AP)—Forest service officials said a spreading forest fire in the rugged Cinnabar Basin near Yellowstone National Park swept through 700 acres of heavy timber Sunday night.

Smoke jumpers were dispatched by airplane from Missoula, 100 Indian firefighters traveled to the fire from Billings and bulldozers were moved into position to build fire lines.

$1 Million Paid Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Employment Security Division said Thursday the wages paid Arkansas workers covered by the employment security law in 1962 topped the $1 million mark for the first time. Employees under the law were paid an average weekly wage of $68.93, the ESD said—a total of $1,059,350.

CHATTER

By "BILL"

People these days are very much concerned with facts and figures. We speak of billions now when it used to be hundreds. Even little children can quote the amount of the national debt, the price of hamburger and they are genuinely concerned with the increase of a double-dip.

We, at Ray's Style Shoppe are concerned with both and perhaps in a little different way. We like the recent quip... "Figures don't lie. But girdles condense the truth."

It is a fact that we have the most condensing little truth finders to be found anywhere. They are Marja girdles, made by the Marja Brassiere people who are famous for their Hi-A Bras.

Hot weather, women have a tendency to relax, let go and naturally you find yourself spreading out in all directions. This is not good, it gives poor posture, uncomfortable fitting clothes and a general run-down look.

We ask you to place yourself in a Marja girdle, one of those light, airy, double-stretch numbers, which will conceal bulges, give you a well dressed feeling and in general add to your morale. These girdles come in several styles and sizes from little to big. We like the panty girdle with removable supporters, perfect to wear under pants. A little heavier garment zips up the side, is easy to get into and light as a feather. The long leg Lycra, covers completely the places on thighs that are difficult to conceal under sheath dresses. It will also tug at your tummy very gently, until you will want to hold in Marja's are priced from $5.00 to $12.95.

Let us help you select the perfect foundation for your fall and winter wardrobe. You will find them all at Ray's Style Shoppe... Hope's House of Fashion.

Russia to Release Jap Fishermen

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today that all Japanese fishermen jailed by the Russians on charges of poaching will be released soon.

The move was regarded by Japanese officials and newspapers as part of the Soviet Union's current peaceful coexistence line.

By Japanese count, there are 117 Japanese fishermen under Soviet detention, and 230 boats. The Russian announcement made no mention of returning the ships.

In One Area TV Leaves Reality

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The popular phrase used to describe most of the fall's new television season is "closer to reality." Closer than what is not stated, but the presumption must be last year's shows.

However, in at least one area television seems to be moving farther and farther away from reality. By my count, there will be only five series next season featuring married couples—not counting the cartoon "Flintstones. Every last one I say comely."

There's Danny Thomas, Dick Van Dyke, Joey Bishop, Donna Reed and Ozzie and Harriet, whose merry portrait of suburban life will expand to three couples now that son Rick has taken a spouse. Newcomer to the married group will be "Glynis," also played for laughs.

As every single girl over 25 is well aware, the rarest forms of human life are eligible, mature bachelors and, perhaps even more so, attractive, eligible widowers. They abound in television.

Tall, handsome, susceptible bachelors are so common in television that it is impossible to count them. By incomplete figures, there will be at least 14 widowers.

Among television widowers who, if the writers have their way, will remain uncaught this season are Andy Griffith, Jed Clampett of "Beverly Hillsbillies," Judge Garth of "The Virginian," the father of "My Three Sons," Lawrence Preston of "The Defenders," Dr. Gillespie, and, of course, the champion of them all, Ben Cartwright of "Bonanza" who had been a widower three times before the show started.

Only about five widows will be turning up on the home screens, two of them in "The Lucy Show" with co-star Vivian Vance playing a divorcee. Then there's Liz Thorpe in "The Nurses," Bea Benaderet will be a widow with two children in "Petiteco Junction," and Pamela Britton will be a widowed boarding house owner who falls in love with a visitor from outer space in "My Favorite Martian."

The wedding of Miss Pamela Aslin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Aslin of Hope, and Larry Wayne Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Chandler of Crossett, was solemnized Sunday, August 25 at the First Methodist Church.

In a setting of greenery and burning tapers Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, organist, and Mrs. John Tabor of North Little Rock, vocal soloist, presented the nuptial music. Mrs. Tabor sang "The Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer." The Rev. Gladwin Connell officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Entering the church upon the arm of her father, the bride wore a long, flowing, white gown with a fitted waist. The dome-shaped skirt had a bow and fold in front and back pleats, which swept into a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held in place by a cluster of lilies of the valley. A diamond lavalier was her only jewelry, and she carried a bouquet of white antheriums.

Miss Jane Ward of Little Rock was the bride's maid of honor. Her sweet-length gown was gold satin fashioned with short sleeves and a square neckline. A rose of the same material provided back interest for the sheath dress. The honor attendant wore a gold circlet with a short veil on her head and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze pompons.

Curtis Chandler served his son as best man. Ushers were Eddie Aslin, brother of the bride, David Lampkin of Camden, Bill Johnson of Crossett, and Ralph Ligon of Moro, Ark.

Mrs. Aslin wore a pale green silk suit for her daughter's wedding. She had bone accessories and a green cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. Chandler, mother of the groom, wore a mauve silk dress with blending accessories and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Aslin were hosts for a reception at the Heritage House. Mrs. Hinton Davis greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line. The bride's table was centered with white stocks and white candles. Mrs. Bill Wray, aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake, and Mrs. Syvill Burke of Springhill, La., poured the punch.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Lloyd Spencer, Mrs. Thomas Hays, Mrs. Winston Duke, Mrs. Vonnice Edwards, Mrs. Teddy Jones, Jr., and Misses Lolly Prather, Dorothy Smith, Jan Reinhardt, Sut Lowder, Mary Lou Park, Jeanne Lowe, Sharon Fielding, and Ann Sutton. Mrs. Jerry Owen had charge of the bride's book.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the bride wore a gray dress with cranberry accessories and a white antherium corsage.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Chandler will be at home in Conway where both will continue their studies at Hendrix College this fall.

Labor Day Signals Fall Business Start

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A larger than usual pack of problems crowds the final week before Labor Day. The long weekend will start the fall season for many businesses and consumers.

But there is an offsetting bundle of firm statistics and high hopes.

This preholiday week will see another deadline in the long bubbling feud between the railroads and their operating unions over work rules and employment. Both this and the racial turmoil dramatized this week by the march on Washington hold potential threats to industry and citizens alike, if the issues aren't solved.

This week will see continuing arguments in Congress over the limited nuclear test ban treaty and the proposed tax on American purchases of foreign securities and the bill to cut individual and corporate income taxes. All affect phases of business planning and operations and go deeply into basic issues and problems ahead.

But in spite of all the strife and uncertainty this summer, consumer confidence apparently still holds high. And so does individual spending and business activity.

More persons plan to buy new houses and cars than did last spring, but fewer plan to buy household durable goods. The surveys are regarded as a guide to consumer confidence. Plans can change, but they do show how people are feeling about their own and the general economic outlook. For a current guide to consumer confidence the economists watch retail sales and housing starts.

Building has held high, with apartment houses accounting for most of the total increases in recent months.

Retail sales are well above a year ago.

The auto industry is expressing confidence that the new models coming out in the next few weeks will spark a third straight year of good sales.

In one section of the household durables market, the American Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association reports that July factory sales of washers and dryers ran 9 per cent ahead of last year. Sales in the first seven months of 1963 topped the like period of 1962 by 8 per cent.

Both industrial production and personal incomes set records in July.

British Loan Goes to India

NEW DELHI (AP)—Britain today made available to India a 10 million pound ($28 million) loan toward the foreign exchange costs of economic development during this fiscal year of the multibillion dollar third five-year plan.

The loan is part of $84 million dollars aid Britain has pledged to India for this fiscal year.

Freighters Collide, Nobody Hurt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two heavily loaded U.S. freighters rammed together in dense fog today and one was barely damaged. No injuries were reported.

The 4,600-ton Matson Line freighter Sierra of San Francisco had a 5-foot rip in its starboard side at the waterline as it was towed into Wilmington. It was listing sharply but kept from sinking by a load of lumber.

The 4,300-ton Calmar Lines Liberty ship Massmar, of Baltimore, listing slightly, dropped anchor near the site of the collision, inside the breakwater in the channel entrance.

DOROTHY DIX

JOBLESS HUSBAND FRIGHTENED

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I'm out of work and frightened. All doors bang in my face. I was born in the town where we live and got my first job when I was just 18 in 1948. Three years later the draft caught me. I didn't get sent to Korea because of weak eyes. After discharge I was back on the old job. Three years later I made my first mistake; I quit work to marry. Ever since I've been tramping the streets looking for a job—hard to come by when you haven't a high school diploma. Had to be content with sweeping out offices, washing windows, being a messenger. After our third baby (three more have been added to that) I got a steady job as night watchman but poor eyesight soon disqualified me. The doctor says glasses won't help. Why should everybody make it so tough? I realize my mistake is not hanging on to that first job but why must I be mistreated and hated forever just because I made one mistake? After all I have a wife and going on six children to support. We are both sunk at the thought of another to feed and clothe. There seems nowhere to turn. Frankly, I'm frightened. — Jobless

Dear Jobless: You are 33, unemployed, have poor eyesight, a wife and five and a half children. You also have a defeatist attitude which only makes things worse. I don't believe that you are "hated and mistreated." The majority of people are kind and more than willing to lend a helping hand. Yours are the woes of a martyr; not a grown man who should possess plenty of realism to face up to his physical and educational handicaps. He also needs the courage to take constructive action in overcoming them.

Your present plight is "not" hopeless. Others have overcome worse difficulties. I recently read about a successful journalist who has been blind since the age of three. He not only taught himself how to get around the world without a cane or canine but went to college and Oxford University. Where there's a will, there's a way.

You have several ways. First, you may be eligible for Social Security disability benefits issued by the Social Security Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Then there is Unemployment Compensation offered by the Labor Department. Your State Employment Service is the best clearinghouse of jobs for which you may be qualified and undoubtedly your State Department of Education has a Rehabilitation Bureau and Vocational Training Service.

The U.S. Veterans Administration conducts a Mental Hygiene Clinic where I'm sure you'll get valuable advice about both job possibilities and mental outlook. If worse comes to worst, you can resort to your community Public Welfare Department for relief. But go with a real desire for self-help rather than a yen for a handout.

No matter which of the above suggestions you decide to follow it would certainly be worth your while to complete your high school education. Query your local high school principal on adult evening classes. I also think your wife should go to the nearest branch of Planned Parenthood for advice. But by far the most important thing for both of you is to substitute hope for despair, courage for fright and action for resignation.

Dear Helen: Your letter from "Wallflower" caught my attention. I have a 30-year-old son who has not yet found his mate. He is a gentleman; well-mannered, kind and rather shy; holds a fine job; maintains an apartment with a chum; enjoys people; is fun loving and liked by all. But he works in a firm where only men are employed. Most of the girls his age are married and those he meets after hours usually too young and giggly-silly to hold his interest.

How can he get acquainted with a fine girl like "wallflower" who faces a similar problem? Is there no place where young people such as they may meet?—Concerned Mother

Dear Concerned: The more your son circulates, the wider his variety of interests, the greater his chances of meeting the right girl. Travel, sports, politics and adult education courses are all activities which bring people together. Don't discount his fellow office workers as potential matchmakers just because they are men. Some must have sisters and a lot probably have wives with unmarried friends. If your son "really" wants to find a mate he will. There are plenty of unattached, attractive girls in their mid- and late 20's who'd like to change their status. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "The Way to a Girl's Heart." Pass it along to your boy.

Dear Helen: My husband was felled by a heart attack while on the way to work six years ago. Ever since it's been a struggle to make ends meet. Why should this happen to us who have been so kind to others? We are living on Disability Social Security and this goes against our grain. Do you know anyone who would be interested in buying my album of news and views of the Second World War? It's very detailed and nicely arranged. —P.M.

Dear P.M.: Life doesn't reward or punish us on a quid pro basis. The kindest souls are often the ones dealt the most cruel blows. Look forward, not back. Check a classified telephone directory for names and addresses of second hand book dealers who buy collectors' items.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Testimony on Treaty Balanced
By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—A double general blessing and a double pointing out of sins. That's the usual experience of a treaty when it reaches the Senate. It's happening now to President Kennedy's limited nuclear test-ban treaty with Russia.
He naturally endorsed it when he sent it to the Senate which has the task of approving or killing it. Some senators were immediate critics, with questions and misgivings, although they were outnumbered by those in favor.
Next came the blessing from top men in the Kennedy administration as they testified on the treaty at Senate hearings. Then those who had doubts, or were flatly opposed, had their say.
If the picture is beginning to look a little confused, that's usual. But the hearings now are almost two weeks old and those in favor, including 35 American Nobel Prize winners, outnumber the opponents.
It's probably a little annoying to the Kennedy administration, if not disturbing, that some of those who showed less than full enthusiasm or downright opposition were generals.
But so far the testimony has been a balancing act.
Generals balanced generals, the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission balanced the testimony of a former chairman of the AEC, and scientists balanced scientists.
Dean Rusk, secretary of State, led off for the administration. Being neither a scientist nor a military expert, he backed the treaty mainly from the position of foreign relations.
But he did give assurance that if the Russians tried to cheat on this treaty, which bans all tests except under ground, they'd be found out immediately.
Then Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, with an impressive display of information, flatly said the United States is superior to the Russians in nuclear weapons and will remain that way, ban or no ban.
So far it was a solid front in favor. Then Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, along with the chiefs of the Army, Navy and Air Force, lined up behind the treaty. But then the first little crack showed.
Gen. Curtis LeMay, chief of staff of the Air Force, said he would have been against the treaty if it hadn't already been signed. This was hardly a hearty endorsement. Another high officer was even more sour.
Gen. Thomas S. Power, Strategic Air commander, was utterly opposed. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, chief of military space development, said he could carry out his mission better without a treaty.
Former AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss expressed deep concern that the Russians will cheat, although Rusk and McNamara must have thought they had answered such concern.
The present AEC chairman, Dr.

Bump Shakes Up 300 Passengers
BOSTON (AP)—A slow-moving Boston and Maine self-propelled four-car diesel train struck the bumper at the end of the line in the North Station today shaking up an estimated 300 passengers.
The train was inbound from Haverhill, Lawrence, Shawshen, Andover and Wilmington at the height of the commuter hour.
Although the railroad said several persons complained of minor injuries, only two were taken to a hospital.

Haiti Roulette Complicated but Deadly
AN AP SPECIAL REPORT
By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haitian roulette is more complicated but no less deadly than its Russian counterpart. Suppose you drive by the heavily guarded national palace at night on four very bad tires.
"If you have a blowout," explained a Haitian businessman, "it's the end. The explosion will draw a barrage of fire from every trigger-happy guard on duty."
Even if apocryphal, the account of this new local sport serves to dramatize two facts of life in the Haiti of dictator Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier:
1. Very real fear of a blowout in front of the palace is only one of many varieties of terror flourishing here.
2. The main force of this terror is the palace, the arsenal-fortress which Papa Doc, in a bizarre pact with his sense of historic mission, has pledged to turn into a "Himalaya of bodies, rivers of blood" in any attempt to depose him.
Two small invasions by anti-Duvalier armed bands this month resulted in a wave of reprisals here and in the interior demonstrating that Papa Doc is not making idle threats.
Scores are believed to have been killed or imprisoned—where death sometimes is the only parole—on suspicion of disloyalty. Operating in the invasion area, Duvalier's special security corps, the Tonton Macoutes, are said to have hurled hand grenades into homes of those thought to have even smiled at rebels.
There were reports of executions of officers and civilians in the ill-famed prison of Ft. Dimanche.
Glenn T. Seaborg, a Nobel Prize winner, disagreed with Strauss. He was all in favor of the treaty as being in the best interests of the United States.
Then came the scientists on both sides.
Two of them, Dr. Harold Brown and Dr. Norris E. Bradbury, supported the treaty. Brown is the Pentagon's chief scientist and director of defense and research engineering. Bradbury directs the Los Alamos scientific laboratory, which is chiefly engaged in weapons development.
But Dr. Edward Teller, often credited with being the father of the H-bomb and consistently against a test ban, was against this one. So was Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at Berkeley, Calif.
Dr. Willard F. Libby, a Nobel Prize winner and a former member of the AEC, reluctantly approved but expressed concern that American development of the peaceful uses of the atom might be hampered by the ban.
The longer the hearings go on, the longer the balancing act. In the end, the Senate will have to balance the whole business and decide whether to approve.
From the beginning it has seemed sure the Senate would approve. It still seems that way.

If Shirl was right about this... I jumped up, hot and edgy, to stomp around through the clutter. I couldn't honestly see how they could tie me in without Shirl's crew was still finding 'strays' we hadn't any right to. Or still doing whatever it was they'd been doing to Ybarra's brand. I didn't know, of course, that they weren't. I'd have been inclined, I thought, to let them have Shirl if it wasn't for the papers that shyster was holding.
I even wondered what kind of a partner the shyster would make. The first storm hit the river that night, tearing out of the north with a wild roar of wind. Rain came down like a cartload of bullets. Thunder shook the house's streaming walls; lurid flashes of lightning, almost incessant, turned the dark nearly bright as day.
It got both of us up—Rip van Winkle couldn't have slept through that storm. Shirl's curse-ridden gabbie stayed the whole time on cattle. My own swollen visions had to do with the river, wondering would it embark on a fierce enough tear to gouge me a bangco that would put Ybarra's holding on the United States side of the boundary.
It was only a question of time—I knew that.
If it got the job done we could forget all this other stuff. Cattle wouldn't matter, nor the horses.
After a while I began to worry about those bred mares and the ones who'd dropped foals. Texas Chief, who was the puppy of some of them, had been killed one night on the Waggoner ranch in weather like this. He had got to running, they said, and wound up with his throat in the fork of a mesquite.
It was a moot of money to have fly up the spout.
I went over to where Shirl stood glaring at the storm. "Do you think those mares and foals will be all right?"
I'd imagined I had heard by this time all his choicest expressions, but his fund of profanity was apparently inexhaustible.
The rain was slapping against the che. These new victims are only a fraction of those thought to have paid with their lives or limbs for real or imagined lack of faith in Duvalier since he came to power in 1957.
Political reprisal business became so brisk in his time that Duvalier converted the basement section of the National Palace and the one-time military barracks at Ft. Dimanche into special prisons equipped with torture cells.
But the northern frontier invasions by his enemies have exposed signs that Papa Doc is now a captive of the fear he exploited to stay in power.
Duvalier distrusts the army which he purposely weakened while arming his own civilian militia and Tonton Macoutes.
Aware of the long tradition of fragile loyalties among Haiti's partisans of power and of the spreading unrest, the dictator has virtually buried himself in the palace, his last sanctuary.
But many Haitians will tell you nothing will save Papa Doc because the mahogany presidential chair has a "range"—pronounced run-jay—or malediction and anyone who sits in it goes mad and dies.

Little Doubt Dodgers Need More Hitting

By MIKE RATHEP

Associated Press Sports Writer

Wanted: Man to join first-rate firm. Short hours. Good salary. Bonus in October if successful. Only requirement—must have bat with base hits. Call collect, Walt Alston, Los Angeles Dodgers. HURRY.

There's no doubt that's the Dodgers' big need.

Jim O'Toole again emphasized the fact Monday night, holding the National League leaders to a mere five hits as the Cincinnati Reds survived a two-men-on-the-same-base situation and posted a 3-1 victory.

It was the Dodgers' fourth loss in the last five games, and trimmed their lead to 5½ games over second-place St. Louis. Los Angeles now has managed to score only four runs in the last 35 innings and collected just 36 hits in five games.

The only Dodger regular hitting over .300 is Tommy Davis, the defending batting champion who is stroking away at a .328 clip. No Dodger is among the leaders in home runs or runs batted in and collectively the team is hitting a meek .250.

The Reds pulled a page from the Dodgers' book and wound up with two men on second base in the sixth inning after Vada Pinson singled and Frank Robinson walked. Pinson was picked off, and in the rundown, both runners stood staring at each other on second. Robinson was ruled out.

The Cardinals took the runner-up spot by beating San Francisco 6-3, dropping the Giants to third, 6½ back, and preventing Juan Marichal from posting his 20th victory. Milwaukee whipped Houston 11-7 in the only other game scheduled.

In the only American League action, second-place Minnesota remained 11½ games behind the New York Yankees by splitting a two-night doubleheader with Washington. The Twins won 5-2 on consecutive seventh-inning homers by Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison before the Senators took the nightcap 7-3 as Dick Phillips drove in four runs.

O'Toole, 16-11, had lost eight of his last 10 decisions, but got the only runs he needed when Gordy Coleman tagged Don Drysdale, 16-15, for a two-run homer in the fourth inning. The Dodgers scored in the bottom half on a double by Willie Davis and a single by Tommy Davis, but that was it. The Reds' final run crossed in the eighth when Tommy Harper raced home from first base on a single by Pinson.

The Cardinals won with a three-run ninth-inning uprising against Marichal, 19-7. A walk to Carl Sawatski and singles by Curt Flood and Dick Groat scored the tie-breaking run. The Giants had moved into a tie in the eighth on Felipe Alou's run-producing single after George Altman's two-run homer in the top of the inning put St. Louis ahead 3-2.

Key to Tennis Play Up to Ralston

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—If tempestuous Dennis Ralston can adequately demonstrate that he's grown from a Peck's Bad Boy to an angry young man the United States may be on the way toward regaining its long-lost tennis prestige.

The acid test of the 21-year-old Californian with the checkered tennis past begins Wednesday on the carefully manicured courts of Forest Hills' West Side Tennis Club in the U.S. National Singles Championships.

Ralston, the rangy stylist from Bakersfield, is seeded third behind bounding Chuck McKinley, the Wimbledon champion from San Antonio, Tex., and Australian Roy Emerson, the Australian and French champion. Rafael Osuna of Mexico is seeded fourth.

The tourney proper begins Friday, but qualification eliminations for the huge field of 224 players, including more than 100 foreign champions, open Wednesday with 64 men competing for 16 spots in the championship bracket of 128.

The pressure is squarely on Ralston, not only to demonstrate his maturity—and with it the ability to channel his temper toward demolishing opponents instead of throwing rackets—but also to solidify American hopes of again becoming an international tennis power.

Ralston was regarded as one of the country's most promising players a few years ago, then drew a year's suspension for his temper tantrums on the court during Davis Cup eliminations.

He re-emerged as potentially one of the world's best in a spectacular display against Mexico in American Zone Davis Cup semifinals two weeks ago in Los Angeles. He beat both his Southern California roommate, Osuna, and Antonio Palafox and teamed with

DeJong of Grants, N.M., captured the Coast Guard trophy at the National Rifle Matches with a 100-15, tying the match record set in 1958.

Brown Picks Up His 6th Shutout

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Paul

Brown picked up his sixth shutout of the season Monday night as Arkansas whipped Columbus 7-

0 in International League baseball.

In other league games, Jacksonville took a doubleheader from Indianapolis, 4-3 and 11-5; Atlanta won two from Buffalo, 8-6 and 1-0, both games in 12 innings; Syracuse edged Richmond 2-1 and Toronto beat Rochester 8-4.

Brown yielded nine bases on balls and stayed in trouble throughout the game. Even so, he was tough in the clutch.

center and scored on a wild pitch for Arkansas' first run, in the third inning. Richie Allen followed with his 31st home run of the season.

The Travelers iced the game with a five-run eighth inning, including Danny Cator's two-run, bases-loaded single. Another run scored and Cator went to third on Orlando MacFarlane's bad throw to home plate. Cator scored on a wild pitch. Johnny Upham came in with the first Traveler run of the inning when Al Pehanick, the loser, walked a man with the bases loaded.
